

Sinclair Broadcasting is using public airwaves to push such a clearly political agenda. This is a blatant abuse of the power that can be welded with media consolidation. When one company can spread its political ideology across the country, whether liberal or conservative, it is a violation of the public trust. We must review the laws that govern media ownership so that such power will not be concentrated in the hands of a few media conglomerates.